The Cruise Craft Executive 800.

1. The Executive 800 Flybridge model.
Full length flybridge creates a fully covered cockpit.
2. Stainless steel and teak ladder with large access hatch to flybridge.
3. The flybridge control centre offers generous seating and total visibility.
4. Stainless Steel Safety Rail encloses entire flybridge.
5. Sedan model hardtop is ideal for sunbaking or carrying dinghy, windsurfer etc.
6. Pleasing lines of your home away from home. The Executive 800 Sedan model.
7. Self draining cockpit floor. Extra storage beneath cockpit seats.
8. Refreshing hot and cold shower to wash away the sand and salt.
9. Looking from aft bulkhead through saloon and beyond to for'ard cabin.
10. Dinette table folds out to half or full size.
11. Helmsman's folding backrest provides extra bench space in the galley.
12. Mid ship bunk with easy access lockers.
13. Enjoy the comfort of the Executive for'ard cabin. More room to move, more room to stretch out and more room to stow your gear.
14. Hot and cold shower, vanity basin, mirror, and full flush toilet for your comfort, convenience, and privacy.
15. Extra guests? Fold down the dinette table to form an extra bunk.
16. Tinted amour-plate glass provides 360° panoramic views from the saloon area.
17. Large refrigerator for all your holiday supplies, conveniently located beneath dinette seating.
18. Electric powered anchor winch: Raise or lower the anchor from the helm.
19. Now you're behind the wheel of the Executive 800.

Who made The Executive Decisions? The Captain, the first mate or the crew?

Long before timber is varnished and brass is polished, a craft of this nature spends many hours on the drawing board.

That time is critical.

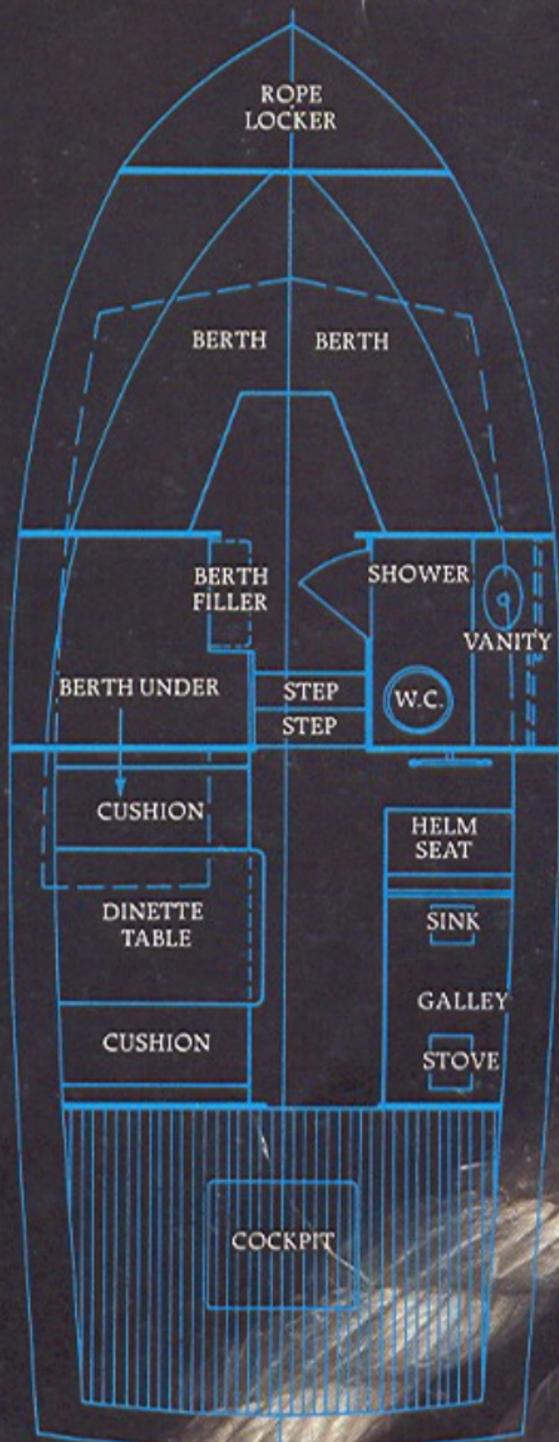

Those hours are the opportunity to get a lot of things right.

The Executive 800 is the product of many peoples' thoughts, demands and criteria for maximum pleasure, convenience and safety at sea.

Modern Boating Magazine made these observations . . .

"The executive is a model of space usage — from the clever design of the port side berth to the location of the refrigerator beneath the aft dinette seat; from the helmsman's folding backrest (to provide extra galley bench space) to the "terracing" of the saloon's for'ard bulkhead moulding as storage space for small items."

"Because of buyer research (and also because the Nichols womenfolk had a say in it), the galley is not the usual below-deck 'dungeon'. It is part of the saloon, immediately inside the aft bulkhead and right opposite the dining table, whoever is cook at least has as good a view of the scenery as anyone else aboard".
